

EGO minutes
2-08-2006

People who attended: Jenn, Kate, Julie, Shane, Lindsay, April, Sarah, Kelly, Brent, Dave

Dave gave two possible themes for the academic conference: global literacy or identity and literature. The consensus was that everyone liked the identity and literature one best. Shane's proposed title is Establishing Personal and Cultural Identity Through the Written Word. This is a possible working title. Dave said that he is talking with Professor Dilger about funding and would like to align our topic with the university theme (global challenges, personal responsibility) to get more money for the conference.

Jenn still needs to talk to Bradley about the website. She requested people return their information sheets to her a.s.a.p. She said she would have a prototype of a website by the next meeting (in 2 weeks).

Sarah reported on the creative writing workshop. She will have a press release by Friday and will run it by Professor Dilger. April will also try to have a flyer by Friday. Sarah announced that submissions will be due March 1 and that preference would be given to EGO members. Lindsay said she might be available to moderate the fiction workshop, but she has to check on the date.

Meeting was adjourned.
