

Child Development for Early Interventionists

Presented by Amy Cocorikis, Director C.A.R.E. Consulting, Inc.

Working with children who have special needs and their families presents many challenging opportunities. We need to have a strong foundation of how children develop in the first three years of life as a basis for our observations, assessments, conversations with families and ultimately our interventions. How many times has a parent asked, "Well, what should he be doing at this age?" or "What kinds of things should she be working on next?"

The following workshops will serve as a general overview for newer providers and as a welcome refresher for folks who have been in the field. Overall development will be discussed from a variety of perspectives and the workshops will include Powerpoint presentations, videotaped examples to view and discuss, and activities designed to enhance our observation and communication skills. Have fun and learn while fulfilling your "typical child development" credentialing requirements (approved for 5hrs each - 15hrs total) !!
