Application to Host a Peace Corps Fellow/AmeriCorps Member

Internship in Community Development

For

11 months at 37.5 hours per week
Introduction

Please complete this application if you wish to host a Peace Corps Fellow in Community Development for 11 months, 37.5 hours per week. Individual communities, clusters of two or three communities, units of government, governmental departments or agencies, educational institutions, non-profit agencies and economic development organizations (such as Chambers of Commerce, Main Street Programs, planning organizations and regional economic development entities) may apply. Graduate students in our program are completing Master’s Degree Programs from the Departments of Business Administration [MBA], Economics, Educational and Interdisciplinary Studies, Geography, Health Education, Political Science, Recreation, Park & Tourism Administration, and Sociology.

Selection Process

This is a competitive process. Community or agency applications will be evaluated on the following criteria:

- Cooperation and willingness of local organizations to support and work with the Fellow,
- Clearly defined projects for the Fellow,
- Readiness of the community, as demonstrated by recent accomplishments and a strategic plan—or other guiding documents—based on local input,
- Fit between community’s goals and skill set, interest of the Fellow,
- A plan for continuing development projects after the Fellow’s assignment ends, and
- A financial commitment of $25,000* (for Academic Year 2015-2016). Of this amount, the student earns a $1,800/month stipend paid through the University and a $500 moving allowance at the start of the internship, for a total of $20,300 for the eleven-month internship. The remainder is used for training, travel, and supervision of the student. The student retains full-time graduate student status at Western Illinois University and is therefore eligible for student health insurance through fees that she/he pays out of the stipend. The student also receives a full tuition waiver for the academic year.
- *USDA grant and other program funds may be available to offset partial sponsorship costs for eligible communities and projects. Please ask for details.

Application Deadlines and Contact Information

Internships begin September 1 and January 1. For priority consideration for Fellows beginning their 11-month internships in September, applicants are encouraged to contact the program by January 31; for January placement, applicants should contact the program by August 1. Applications are accepted on an ongoing basis and will be reviewed until suitable placements for eligible students are found.
