

Writing Instruction on the Disciplines (WID) Council Final Report for 2022-2023

Members: Peterman (Chair), Bean (Vice Chair), Chamberlin (Recording Secretary), Di Carmine, Gates, Miczo, Stinnett, Valeva, Chin, Johnson (ex-officio), Beardsley (ex-officio), Sims (Student Rep.)

The WID Council accomplished four main tasks this year:

1. Continued the implementation of the biannual rotation review of all WID courses throughout the University. COFAC WID courses were reviewed in the fall of 2022 and COEHS WID courses were reviewed in the spring of 2023. The WID course review process outlined in last year's WID Council report was utilized for these reviews. CAS WID courses are scheduled for review in the fall of 2023 and CBT WID courses are scheduled for review in the spring of 2024.
2. Approved the WID designation request for COMM 311, Research Design in Communication.
3. Held a WID workshop titled, Teaching Writing in the Discipline (WID) Online: A Roundtable Discussion. The workshop was well attended and informative. The panelists discussed techniques they utilize to teach their WID course effectively online.
4. Reviewed WID course enrollment numbers and sent email reminders to Chairs/Directors of any Department/School that had a course enrollment over 25 in the Fall of 2022 and Spring 2023. There were four such sections for the entire academic year.

Submitted by Kaycee Peterman